Remaking of nations is under way all over the world map. Nationalism is an issue everywhere. "Advanced" thinkers discredit the ideal of the sacredness of nations, and plead for a nebulous "internationalism." They would put class loyalties and economic and social advantage above patriotism. Indeed, patriotism is frowned upon by many highbrows. Every person who is awake to the times must reassess for himself the place and value of national loyalty in life.

For the believer in God and the Bible there seems to be but one course open. As our Lesson makes plain, God deals with nations as nations. The words of the prophets, and the example of Jesus, affirm the sanctity of patriotism. Only devotion to God himself, and to one's own home, may take precedence of this passion.

No other force is so strong, amidst the current conflicting tides of human thought that are sweeping around the earth, for the stabilizing of human society, as the conviction that a Divine Providence has hiterto guided and governed our Nation; and that God is still supreme and sovereign in the affairs of men.

Despite a noisy athelsm and eign in the affairs of men.

Despite a noisy atheism and agnosticism, the great mass of people today are really reverent. They believe that the God who delivered Israel by a high hand from Egyptian slavery is still ruling the world, and that He is concerned for the well-being of nations that honor Him. There is everywhere an inarticulate expectation that God will intervene in our times. Our present problems, of strikes and scandals and seething unrest, are a clear call lems, of strikes and scandals and secthing unrest, are a clear call to all preachers and teachers of the Bible to search out and proclaim the will of God.

A Man Of Might,

In the field of labor, striking personalities have recently arisen; but not in the realm of religion. Preachers and laymen of promise are often hamstrung; and harnessed to ecclesiastical jobs, wherein no prophet can thrive. It needed a free Moses to deliver Israel: and our day's requirement. Israel; and our day's requirement

Israel; and our day's requirement is similar.

No pallid preacher, no "mouse of the scrolls," was this man Moses; but a husky, gusty, lusty son of the desert, who could slay an oppressor with his own hands. Once the consciousness of his call had come to dominate him, he stood fearless before august pharoah, thundering ultimatums and working wonders. Even the Egyptian people learned to stand in awe of mighty Moses; and this fact constrained them, terrorstricken, to give of their jewels

Flinging a challenge to men of today to think deeply upon basic themes, comes this old story of the birthday of the Hebrew nation. As Rabbi Wise has said, concerning the first Passover, which marked the deliverance of Israel from Egyptlan bondage, this is "the natal day of the first independent nation constituted upon the principles of liberty and equality."

Remaiking of nations is under way all over the world map. Nationalism is an issue everywhere. The place of leadership that Moses had earned amongst his people is illustrated by the completeness of their compliance with his directions. They all kept the feast, conforming to his ritual, and girt and ready for immediate departure—though obdurate pharaoh was still on the throne. Those early Israelites clieved God and His messenger.

rate pharaon was still on the throne. Those early Israelites elieved God and His messenger.

At midnight the blow fell, and there was such a sound of wailing as had never been heard before in Egypt. With one voice, king and people cried to the fateful children of Israel to depart from the land. Pharaoh's parting plea, "and bless me also," was a pathetic reversal of his former high-mindedness.

The Sign Of The Blood.

Throughout all times, and in all nations, blood has symbolized life. The blood of spotless lambs and kids, sprinkled on Jewish doorways with a bunch of hyssop, has been accepted by Christians as a foretoken of the blood of Christ, who is our Passover, shed on Calvary, insuring salvation. "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin." (Antional deliverance for Israel came by way of this religious symbolism. And who can doubt that all our perplexing national and social problems would be solved, were men everywhere to come under the saving blood of the Crucified? Only reborn lives can give us a renewed world.

Incidentally, the rite of the sprinkled blood was God's plan for so impressing the minds of the Israelites that they would forever connect their deliverance with Divine intervention. God wants us to think. There is more

Paralysis Here Are Decreasing

Dr. William T. Shell, Jr., city health officer, reported Wednes-day he had authorized the removal of one of the two remaining infantile paralysis quarantines in the city limits, and that no new cases of the disease had been re-ported to him. The quarantine that was taken down was in the northwest part of the city. Dr. S. H. Burnett, county health officer, said today he had not had reports of additional cases in Navarro county, in addition to the one remaining quarantine. There are now two cases still quarantined, one in the city and one in the county.

After the arrival of all guests, Mrs. Greer was brought in to view the friends who greeted her with cheers and, a shower of most beautiful and useful gifts, Mrs. Montgomery and her joint hostesses had spent much time and work in making preparations for the occasion. Joint hostesses being Mesdames Aron Buck and Deb Montgomery, Miss Eloise Johnston, Mrs. Dick Haigler, Mrs. B. F. Hall and Mrs. J. C. Cockerell. After a period of talking and greetings, each guest was asked to register, and write a receipe for cooking, then humorous games were played and the gifts, were passed around to be admired by all. Last, but by no means least, a bountiful plate lunch was served. The plate consisted of chicken salad, lettuce cans, topped with olives, and cake and ice tea. The entire evening was of so much interest the guests remained until very late, and after the honoree had expressed her joy and appreciation to each one for contributing to much success for the event, all departed for home.

MONSTER OF WHITE RIVER INTO OPEN

NEWPORT, Ark., July 22.—(A)
—Armed with an eight-foot razorkeen harpoon, Deep Sea Diver
Charles B. Brown of Memphis set forth today to conquer Newport's White river "monster."

Brown planned to spend four days exploring the mile-long, 60foot deep Bateman Eddy, making two dives daily.

Somewhere in its depths, according to a half-dozen eyewitnesses including Plantation Owner Bramlett Bateman, is the "monster" which on rare intervals rises to the surface, floats silentity for a few minutes and then submerges to make its presence known only by occasional strings of bubbles.

Brown, a former navy diver now employed by the U. S. engineers, said he expected to find "an overgrown catfish." Others theorized the monster was only

Teacher Cleared Of Cocktail Charges But Job Missing

SAUGUS, Mass., July 22.—(#?)—Blonde Isabell Hallin was publicly cleared today of gossip charges that she served cocktails to her high school pupils, but her teaching job was farther away than ever.

For the second time in less than ten days, Saugus' school committee refused to reappoint her as an English instructor. The committee announced it put no belief in reports that Miss Hallin provided cocktalls for students rehearsing the high school play in her home. Those stories, Miss Hallin had said, were the only reasons she could assign for her ouster.

So much for the hair. The nails are kept most exquisitely manicured and a bit long. The color, a red not too brilliant, is run the length not too brilliant, is run the length of the nail, leaving a moon at the top. The color runs right to the tip and it is put on thickly, to give a high gloss. A real rose red is best, for very bright red makes the finger tips look like bloody stumps—a most unpleasant idea. Rose red is more fashionable, in any case. The cuticle is very carefully pushed back twice a day, and the enamel must be removed and renewed often. renewed often.

OPHISTICATED SMARTNESS

Mrs. L. V.-If you put a wee bit of lanolin on your palm, then into what is known as the "doldriums" read Miss Forbes chat today, as a few of her suggestions will give just what you have been needing.

If you are very young, you want to look sophisticated, And if you are beyond the age when you can pretend to be even youngish, young is h, you will take to so phistigation witi relief. In any case, if you wan to achieve this method of doing your nails and your hair.

Hair first, Have if the parmanently waved, even if it needs it. Your hair dresser can put in enough wave to last you between shampooes and you can brush it spirally in any case. Only the front part around the face can be waved if it is quite sraigh, and it should be cut to about four or five inches length. It will take a dozen curleers, not more. You part the hair from the ear and wave what is in front of the parting.

When waved, it is combed back from the face, a finger being held behind it, and it is curled around this finger. Part it at the side, and make three divisions, so a loose curl is brushed back above each ear and one large one, which is brought a little over the forehead. Some people manage five loose curls, flatly against the head, conserved. pass the ends of the hair brush bristles over it, you will be able

Scheduled Games Navarro County

Another round in the Navarro county baseball league next Sunday, July 25, will pit the same teams against each other who met last week but the games sites will be reversed according to the official schedule.

Emhouse is scheduled to face Currie at Currie; Rice will repay a visit of the Cotton Millers; while Girard Oilers, league leaders, will journey to Bazette for the third contest.

The Rice aggregation is only a half game behind the Girard leaders and could pass them Sunday by besting the Mill unit and Bazette repeating their triumph of last Sunday.

SOIL CONSERVATION PROBLEM DISCUSSED FOR CIVITAN CLUB

J. W. CHAPMAN OF TEXAS A. AND M. COLLEGE GIVES

An entirely different and extremely interesting slant on Texas' soil conservation problem was given at Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Civitan Club at the Navarro Hotel by J. W. Chapman, of A and M college, secretary of the Conservation Board and Assistant Agricultural Engineer. Mr. Chapman's talk was a brief summary of extensive study and rosearch he has made since 1910 on Texas' weather.

Jack Thompson and Elbert

the water conditions of a state are important in the operation of a quarry, and that subject occupied much of his attention. He found, he said, in addition to the state's numerous rivers, two spring systems, the primary system following fault-lines, and the secondary, a scasonal one, affected by the surrounding vegetation and local conditions.

He returned in 1919 to find the secondary spring system almost destroyed. Another survey showed, Mr. Chapman said, that white the state's rainfall as a whole had not decreased, the type of rain had changed. Additional study revealed that only 50 per cent of the state's rainfall is geordened ocean water, and only thing. He just shot. I feli out of the car to keep him from killing me."

where did the remaining 40 per cent come from.

Further study indicated that a single large oak tree will dissipate into the air 650 gallons of water daily, which its roots take from the underground water sources. Mr. Chapman concluded, therefore, that the other 40 per cent rainfall is provided by moisture condensed from water vapor emitted by vegetation.

Soil Erosion Causes.

The speaker added that the destruction of these hardy types of vegetation, when land was cleared for farming, has been one of the major contributing factors of soil erosion, resulting from downfolds and which are not retainfolds and which are not retainfold was effold be was effold be might bleed.

During his 12-day flight Traxier repeatedly told hostages he would rather die than return to the Texas prison farm and yesterday begged officers here to prosecute him in Oklahoma.

While the charges were being file-1 against Traxier at Durant, hi wife was arraigned there on a federal charge of harboring and concealing a fugitive.

She pleaded innocenet before U.S. Commissioner J. V. Connell, waived preliminary hearing and was held to answer under $5,000 bon; which she had not posted an hour after the arraignment.

"T don't think you can conceal and harbor your husband."

With Traxier safely out of the way for the present, officers concentrated a search for a third companion of the wily outlaw, Charles Chapman, who left Traxier and Tindol when the former insisted on picking up Mrs. Traxier at Verden.

Chapman, kidnaped a Texas rancher, stole two automobiles and fled into Oklahoma.

Traxler in 1935 twice had escaped from the Pauls Valley, Okla, jail while being held for the slaying of an officer. After his first escape, he and his wife lived for eight months in various Texas towns before he was captured.

Panhandle farmers formed a posse to capture him at Canadian, Texas, after his second flight. They trapped him on a highway and a gun battle shattered his arms and legs. He recovered and was sentenced at Lipscomb, Texas, to 99 years for armed robbery of a storekeeper. Tindol was serving a 35-year sentence from Jasper county, Texas, for robbery.

Mr. Chapman pointed out several specific instances of flood damage, which makes sterile soil. One of the cases was in the Waco area, where two and a quarter tons of topsoil per acre are washed annually into rivers or lakes. By other experiments he found that one major flood in Texas washed away enough fertile topsoil to cover Travists county four feet deep.
